

Hopkinsville, Kentucky.

THEO. E. BARRETT, JR., Editor.
TUESDAY, DECEMBER 16, 1890.

PERSONAL GOSSIP.

Mr. W. G. Cox, of Denver, is in the city.

Mr. J. D. Russell went to Elkhart Sunday.

J. M. Frankel returned from Louisville Sunday.

Ford Schmitt has returned from a month's sojourn in Arkansas.

Mr. Sterling Fort, of Adams Station, is visiting the family of Mr. W. T. Radford.

Miss Mattie Johnson has returned from a pleasant visit of several weeks to relatives in Nashville.

Miss Genevieve Anderson has accepted a position with Rogers & Elgin, the popular druggists and stationers.

Mr. Dan H. Merritt can now be found with N. L. McKee, where he would be pleased to have all his old friends call and see him.

NINE PAGES TO-DAY.

The advertisers make a holiday rush on us to-day and we give them forty columns of extra space.

The KENTUCKIAN is not much given to bragging, but it is rapidly being forced by advertisers to the point of increasing its facilities for accommodating them in some permanent manner.

Directories and other matters of local interest formerly kept standing have long since been crowded out and we have had to make it a rule for some time to reject all but the best class of foreign advertisements.

However, every demand for space by local advertisers will be met and we will still make room for more news than can be obtained from any other paper in the city.

CREAM OF NEWS.

A Bad Fracture.

While wrestling with a playmate Sunday, Mr. C. P. Nolen's son, Leslie, 12 years old, fell and broke both bones of his forearm, making a very bad fracture. The bones were set by Dr. Seagrave.

A Successful Revival.

The revival of the C. P. Church continues to gain in interest. Dr. Flaniken will remain all this week. Services will be held morning and evening. So far there have been thirty conversions and eight additions to the church.

Broken Collar Bone.

Mr. Geo. Thacker's ten-year-old son, Glennie, while playing leap-frog Saturday evening, fell and broke his collar bone. Dr. Seagrave was called in and attended to his injury and at last accounts the patient was getting along pretty well.

Didn't Vote to Suit Him.

Monroe Chappel, col., has been arrested charged with assault. Jim Gibson, a very old colored man, swore out the warrant, which charges him with having assaulted him by hitting him in the face, cutting his lips and striking him a stunning blow on the head with a large stick. Gibson claims that the trouble originated in consequence of his having voted for the Democratic nominee in the 5th ward Saturday. The trial comes up this morning.

Catarh is not a local but a constitutional disease, and requires a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla to effect a cure.

MATRIMONIAL.

Mr. Ed Bradshaw, of Caskey, and Miss Mattie Clark, of New Orleans, will be married at the latter place on the 25th inst. Miss Clark visited the Caskey neighborhood last summer, and it was then that Mr. Bradshaw made the young lady's acquaintance.

Mr. Meredith Woodward, of Springfield, Tenn., and Miss Mary Russell, of Elkhart, sister of Mr. J. D. Russell, of this city, were united in marriage at the latter place yesterday afternoon.

MARRIAGE LICENSE.

John Childress to Serony Magabed Alexander.

COLOR.

Three Pages to Mary Torian.

It is a Mistake.

To try to cure catarh by using local applications. Catarh is not a local but a constitutional disease. It is not a disease of the man, it is a disease of the man. Therefore, to effect a cure, requires a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which acting through the blood reaches every part of the system expelling the taint which causes the disease, and imparting health.

Iron Hall.

Members of Local Branch No. 218, order Iron Hall are earnestly requested to attend at Jan. Mayson's to-morrow night (Wednesday).

To My Customers.

Who have fine watches or difficult work to repair, I would request that you hold them until after the Holidays when I can give them my personal attention and special low prices. Respectfully,
M. D. KELLY.

Mr. Cowan finished the reading of his depositions, page 230 in number, Saturday and the respondent, Mr. Prosser, will read his this week. Mr. Cowan and his attorneys are confident that fully 100 illegal votes cast for Mr. Prosser will be thrown out by the contesting board.

HERE AND THERE.

Vitalia Liver Pills cures headache, Feed, Hay, and hith with Jas. M. Hipkins.

The purest of leaf lard at W. J. Withers and Son's meat shop.

R. M. Woodbridge, livery, feed & sale stable, Fritz stand. Telephone 144.

Born to the wife of Mr. James Broadbitt, on Sunday the 11th inst., a boy.

The County Medical Society held its regular monthly meeting in the city yesterday.

Ex-Assessor Milton Littlefield, of the Union School House district, has been allowed a pension.

Evergreen Lodge Knights of Pythias, is enjoying a boom. New petitions are coming in at every meeting.

The remains of Mrs. Jas. Bradshaw, who died near Longview some months ago, were removed from their temporary resting place to the City Cemetery yesterday.

The attention of all the grocery merchants in the State has been called to the fact, through a circular, that selling prize coffee or any other article of merchandise where a prize is given, is a violation of a law passed in 1880, prohibiting same.

Rev. John Henry Barrows delivered his lecture on "America, or Christianity in our National Life," at the Opera House on the evening of Dec. 11th, to a good house. Dr. Barrows is a pulpit orator of much renown and his lecture was characterized by elegant diction and fluent and forcible delivery throughout. It was well received.

Mr. Clarence Anderson expects to leave for Harrodsburg this week to engage in the photograph business. He will still continue to retain this as his home, leaving his family here.

His son, Mr. Chas. H. Anderson, will operate the gallery at this place during his father's absence. He has many friends in this city who regret to see him leave even temporarily.

Messrs. Johnson & Oerschner, dealers in hardware, general tinware, queensware, all kinds of stoves and stove fixtures, call special attention to their line in this issue and a careful study of what they have to say may profit you. They carry in stock a complete line of these goods and respectfully solicit a share of the patronage of the public. Call and see them before making your selections.

The readers of this issue of the KENTUCKIAN cannot fail to see the conspicuous ad. of J. H. Anderson & Co. on fourth page of extra. The firm is always among the leaders in the line of advertising and as a natural consequence is in a like line in point of sales. This firm does a tremendous business and it is daily increasing in volume. A large and complete stock, good goods, polite and attentive salesmen, low prices and judicious advertising are the requisites of a successful business and certainly this firm possesses all of these.

Frankel's new cheap cash store will be opened up in a few days in the store room recently vacated by Mr. Dan H. Merritt. Joe Frankel will have charge of the new establishment and will handle a full line of dry goods, clothing, etc. It is safe to say that he will in a very short while build up a very profitable business as he has proven himself a very popular merchant heretofore. He has something to say in this issue of importance. Read it.

N. L. McKee, successor to Chas. McKee & Co. is well represented in this, our extra edition. In his store can at all times be found a choice line of groceries, fruits, etc., all fresh and first-class. It is the aim of Mr. McKee to fully sustain the reputation of the old firm—that of handling good, reliable goods at honest prices.

Mr. Lem McKee will conduct the business in all its branches and respectfully invites the old customers to call and see him. Read his ad. elsewhere.

Gus Young, dealer in hardware, guns, pistols, ammunition, cutlery, etc., has a word to the hunters, which they should read and remember. Mr. Young's hardware store is headquarters for hunters and hunter's supplies. His stock embraces everything in the above line and in guns and pistols he makes a specialty of the celebrated brands. In his repair department all goods will be repaired promptly and on short notice. Remember the place, Sixth street—opposite Court House.

Christmas Presents at Cooke's

A greater variety of things suitable for Christmas presents can be found at Cooke's, Clarksville, than ever before. Gold trimmings, lockets and chains, buttons, match boxes and dressing cases, gold spectacles and eye glasses, opera glasses and canes, a fine line of silk umbrellas, watches for ladies and gentlemen, (and the boys and girls are not forgotten), cheaper and better than ever before in great variety. Anybody can afford one now. Bracelets and buttons of all kinds—diamond rings, pins and earrings, clocks and figures as well as an elegant line of spoons of all kinds, knives and forks cheap and beautiful, silver-plated pens, pencils, picks and awls, as well as a great variety of fancy articles that have to be seen to be appreciated. So if you want something for your best girl, and of course you do, for father, mother, sister, brother, cousin or sweetheart, be sure and go to Cooke's for it, as he has the latest styles and his prices are as low as the lowest and goods of the best.

Should your eyes trouble you, Mr. Cooke has an optician with which he examines the eye and carefully adjusts lenses of the proper strength to suit. His prices are greatly lower than prices asked by peddlers and his goods are thoroughly reliable. Try him.

ONCE MORE HE CROWS.

The Democratic Victory in the City Election Almost Complete.

Five Out of Seven Councilmen And the City Attorney Elected.

Saturday's election resulted in the election of the city Attorney and of all but two of the Councilmen by the Democrats. In all of the wards a lively interest was taken and a heavy vote was polled, about three-fourths of the entire vote. The Democratic organization brought out the Democrats almost to a man in most of the wards, while the Republicans failed to get out a much larger proportion of their men. The result was about as predicted in Friday's KENTUCKIAN, when only one ward was conceded to the Republicans. Two wards were lost but the result in the First turned upon one vote and to accomplish the defeat of the Democratic nominee it was found necessary to shift about a dozen colored voters into the First from other wards. As the Republicans had two out of the three officers of election to decide all matters this was done with perfect ease and a little perjury. This game was only prevented in other wards by the close watching of well-posted challengers and the energetic work done to pile up majorities to big to be cut down by fraud.

The result in the races for Councilmen were as follows:

FIRST WARD.
Dr. J. M. Dennis, D., 47; Dr. A. Seagrave, R., 48.

SECOND WARD.
M. C. Forbes, D., 76; Polk Canaler, R., 35.

THIRD WARD.
R. T. Petree, D., 56; F. J. Brownell, R., 44.

FOURTH WARD.
F. W. Dabner, D., 52; E. P. Campbell, R., 21.

FIFTH WARD.
A. H. Anderson, R., 193; H. W. Tibbs, D., 70. W. H. Merritt pulled off at the opening of the polls.

SIXTH WARD.
E. M. Plack, D., 118; W. C. Wright, R., 24.

SEVENTH WARD.
W. J. Withers, D., 53; W. T. Williams, R., 22.

Ca. "B" Attention!
HOPKINSVILLE, KY., Dec. 16, '90.

In pursuance to special order No. 1, issued by Col. J. T. Smith, you are hereby ordered to assemble at my armory on Friday night, Dec. 19, 1890, for the election of a Lieutenant Colonel and Major of the 3rd Regt.

J. T. SMITH, Capt. Comdg Co. "D."

POOR CLARKSVILLE!
Two More Big Failures Follow Last Week's Collapses.

Two other big failures have occurred at Clarksville since our last issue and things over there are still in a deplorable condition.

H. O. Hambrough & Co., proprietors of the Woolen Mills, made an assignment Saturday. Liabilities close on to $100,000.

Yesterday Hancock, Hallums & Co., warehousemen, went to the wall and threw up the sponge. Figures not learned but their liabilities are probably half as heavy as Kendrick, Pettus & Co.'s, which were about $100,000.

This makes six failures, two banks, three warehouses and one milling firm. Total liabilities estimated at $1,900,000.

Martin L. Cross, the shoe man, reported as having failed, denies that he has quit or will quit business.

The financial situation is still very much unsettled and at least one more big warehouse is almost certain to fail.

Inspector Campbell arrived from Washington Saturday and began an investigation of the Farmers and Merchants National Bank. Until his work is completed it will not be possible to tell what the bank will be able to do.

Clarksville has the sympathies of the people of Hopkinsville, and other neighboring cities in her misfortunes. The unfortunate victims of the Franklin Bank collapse are many of them citizens of this county and among their friends the feeling of regret is not altogether unshared with resentment at the way they were swindled by a concern that has been concealing its insolvency for months and perhaps years.

RELIGIOUS AND EDUCATIONAL.

—Old City has thirteen churches and a church-going population of 5,000.

—There are 10,802 school districts, 62,372 teachers and 2,803,000 school children in Japan.

—If the mercuries come from God, as so sweet, how sweet is God, from whom the mercuries come.

—The still, sweet influence of a life of prayer quickens their hearts who never bow the knee. —Alice Carey.

—The missionary secretaries of the Methodist Episcopal Church have asked for $1,250,000 this year "from collections alone."

—The Drapers' Company of London has contributed $3,000 toward the cost of the new buildings for medical instruction in connection with the Nottingham University College.

—No man can lay himself under obligation to do wrong, even for his best friend. Pericles, being once desired by his friend to do so, excused himself, saying: "I am a friend only as far as the altar."

—The latest papers from Tongkin announce the arrival there of a portable cathedral. It was imported from the town of Kessul, and is of iron. It is 180 feet long, 65 feet broad, and 50 feet high. It is said that a native convert is bearing the whole expense of the edifice.

—The Congregationalists are worthy of honor for the liberal support that they give to their ministry. Last year, with many churches not reporting, the expenditures under this head were $6,046,962. The average amount paid for the pastor's support is $1,047—the highest amount being that paid by the Broadway Tabernacle, of thirty to Dr. Wm. M. Taylor ($10,000).—N. Y. Examiner.

—Parents are apt to place great stress on money or a large property, and so little on education, the possession of which gives power, privilege, health, influence and happiness. Flashes can not burn it, or floods wash it away. The constable can not levy upon it or the sheriff seize it. It is the only wealth that can not be taken to itself wings and fly from us. Why is it no more generally sought?—Prof. W. J. Deal.

—It is stated that Germany, acknowledged as having an unrivaled system of higher education, has, seemingly, no heart for the training of women beyond the elementary school and normal branches. While all the other nations of prominence in Europe, with the exception of Russia, have opened their universities to women, Germany has grudgingly granted them only the privileges of "visitors," not of matriculation, examination or admission to degrees.

—The great interests of one's existence may be really more safe when in prison than when in a palace, when lying on a pallet of straw than when sleeping in luxury on a bed of down, and when compelled to say, "Give us this day our daily bread" than when surrounded with the wealth of Croesus.

—Outward conditions are not always the cause of the blessings that they often seem to be. Paul in prison was really a richer man than Caesar on his throne.—N. Y. Independent.

WIT AND WISDOM.

—It is not good for beauty to be a profession.—Julia Ward Howe.

—The homeliest man may point to Heaven.—Van Dorn's Magazine.

—There is a great deal of difference 'twixt an error of love, and the love of an error.

—People who borrow trouble never have to go very far to get it.—Liam's Magazine.

—Every man is worth just as much as the things are worth about which he busies himself.—Antonius.

—A horse is a most sagacious animal, and never more so than in sizing up his driver.—Baltimore American.

—An Iowa man named his boy Twice, so that lightning wouldn't strike him in the same spot.—Texas Sittings.

—It often requires a quicker wit to keep still than it does to make a brilliant repartee.—Elmira Gazette.

—The man who has only been in use about two hundred years. Previous to that time a boy's head had to be thumped with something else.—Liam's Magazine.

—When it becomes possible to tell a friend he has done well without telling him how he might have done better, then watch for the millennium.—Elmira Gazette.

—If the tree is known by its fruits, one of the impressions of the present season is that the people tree stands a very poor chance for identification.—Baltimore American.

—Never meddle with a man who is minding his own business. Don't poke your finger into a bubble hole, because it looks quiet on the outside.—Van Dorn's Magazine.

—People have got to be shocked to wake them out of old absurd notions. You paralyze us to almost every injustice. The happiness that is quite understood at last becomes tiresome. To give it a zest we must have ups and downs. The difficulties which are usually mingled with love awaken passion and increase pleasure.

—It is said that no man ever made an impromptu speech with which he was entirely satisfied. The best way to make an impromptu speech, and not feel bad about it afterward, is to get somebody else to do it for you.—Liam's Magazine.

—We may defer duty, but we can not defer duty. The grammar of duty has no future tense. Deferring it may be one's duty to defer, but it is never one's duty to procrastinate. Deferring calls for wisdom. On the other hand, it is often told that "someday" may be too late. But that day always is too late when that duty demands now.—S. S. Times.

—What is called the stirrings of genius, the hour of consecration, the moment of inspiration, is nothing but the liberation of the intellect, when the latter, for the time exempt from service to the will, does not now sink into inactivity or relaxation, but for a short time is active all alone of its own accord.

—Then the intellect is of the greatest use, and it becomes the true way of the world, for the wholly separated from its origin, the will; it is now the world, as representation itself, concentrated in one consciousness. In such moments, as it were, the soul of immortal works is broken. On the other hand, it is intentional meditation the intellect is not free, for the will leads it and precludes its theme.—Schopenhauer, on Genius.

—Keep silver and nickel ornaments and mounts bright by rubbing with woolen cloths saturated with spirits of ammonia.

—Angels' Pudding.—Two ounces of sugar, two ounces of butter, a pint of cream and the whites of three eggs. Bake in patty-pans, cover with icing, and serve without sauce.—Ladies' Home Journal.

—To take creases out of an engraving lay it face downward upon a sheet of smooth, unglazed white paper, cover it with another sheet of the same, slightly dampened, and iron with a moderately warm flat-iron.—N. Y. World.

—Mucilage of Gum Arabic.—To make a clear, almost odorless and permanent mucilage, Francke neutralizes the free acid present in the gum with lime water. Instead of water he uses a mixture 20 per cent lime water and 80 per cent distilled water.

—Preserving: too large a quantity should never be cooked at one time. Large fruits may be put in the sirup, cooked rapidly at first and then slowly, to preserve the shape; if the fruit is small, and the sirup yet thin, take up a piece at a time carefully, boil the sirup until thick, return the fruit to it and cook slowly.

—Pumpkin Pie Without Eggs.—Take half a gallon of stewed pumpkin, one and a half cups of sugar, one cup of butter, three-fourths cup of sweet milk, and half a teaspoon of flour; season to taste. Add the butter and sugar and milk while the pumpkin is hot, and the flour just before baking. Beat together well, and bake with one crust.—Yankee Blade.

—Fried Beef.—Cut dried beef very thin. To every half pound allow a tablespoonful of butter, half pint of milk, and one tablespoonful of flour. Melt the butter in a frying-pan, add the beef, and stir over the fire five minutes; sprinkle in the flour, stir again, pour in the milk, season with pepper, stir until it boils, and serve immediately.—Courier Journal.

—Tea Biscuit.—One quart of flour, four sifting, and three heaping teaspoons baking powder, sift together; add a little salt and a little oil, and roll out to half inch thick and spread from one to another butter and oil, and butter beaten together before making the dough; roll up and slice off the end, lay on tins and bake quick.—Boston Globe.

—An exchange in an article on the importance of early school branches. While all the other nations of prominence in Europe, with the exception of Russia, have opened their universities to women, Germany has grudgingly granted them only the privileges of "visitors," not of matriculation, examination or admission to degrees.

—The great interests of one's existence may be really more safe when in prison than when in a palace, when lying on a pallet of straw than when sleeping in luxury on a bed of down, and when compelled to say, "Give us this day our daily bread" than when surrounded with the wealth of Croesus.

—Outward conditions are not always the cause of the blessings that they often seem to be. Paul in prison was really a richer man than Caesar on his throne.—N. Y. Independent.

WIT AND WISDOM.

—It is not good for beauty to be a profession.—Julia Ward Howe.

—The homeliest man may point to Heaven.—Van Dorn's Magazine.

—There is a great deal of difference 'twixt an error of love, and the love of an error.

—People who borrow trouble never have to go very far to get it.—Liam's Magazine.

—Every man is worth just as much as the things are worth about which he busies himself.—Antonius.

—A horse is a most sagacious animal, and never more so than in sizing up his driver.—Baltimore American.

—An Iowa man named his boy Twice, so that lightning wouldn't strike him in the same spot.—Texas Sittings.

—It often requires a quicker wit to keep still than it does to make a brilliant repartee.—Elmira Gazette.

—The man who has only been in use about two hundred years. Previous to that time a boy's head had to be thumped with something else.—Liam's Magazine.

—When it becomes possible to tell a friend he has done well without telling him how he might have done better, then watch for the millennium.—Elmira Gazette.

—If the tree is known by its fruits, one of the impressions of the present season is that the people tree stands a very poor chance for identification.—Baltimore American.

—Never meddle with a man who is minding his own business. Don't poke your finger into a bubble hole, because it looks quiet on the outside.—Van Dorn's Magazine.

—People have got to be shocked to wake them out of old absurd notions. You paralyze us to almost every injustice. The happiness that is quite understood at last becomes tiresome. To give it a zest we must have ups and downs. The difficulties which are usually mingled with love awaken passion and increase pleasure.

—It is said that no man ever made an impromptu speech with which he was entirely satisfied. The best way to make an impromptu speech, and not feel bad about it afterward, is to get somebody else to do it for you.—Liam's Magazine.

—We may defer duty, but we can not defer duty. The grammar of duty has no future tense. Deferring it may be one's duty to defer, but it is never one's duty to procrastinate. Deferring calls for wisdom. On the other hand, it is often told that "someday" may be too late. But that day always is too late when that duty demands now.—S. S. Times.

HINTS ABOUT DINNERS.

Grams of Information Picked from Ward MacAllister's Book.

Ward MacAllister's new book, Society as I Have Found It, should be read by all who desire to know what good form is, lie tells, among other things, how to go to dinner. As he makes no mention of waiting for the dinner horn to blow, we conclude that the dinner horn is no longer used in good society.

—The lady of the house must go in last. This will afford her a little time to slick herself up, if she has been compelled to cook the dinner, in the absence of the hired girl.

—The placing of the United States, or royalty table with you," says Ward, in that jaunty style of his, "he must take in the hostess." More or less people have been taken in by every President we have had, and royalty has had much experience. It is fair to be late. There is the Count of Paris. But he hasn't taken in as many people as he expected to.

—By gesture alone the host directs his guests to the dining-room. "You don't get into the grub-room," or even the French form: "Hush! or serve," has been discarded in the recherche circles. Jerking a guest into the dining-room by the coat collar is no longer in vogue.

—The placing of your guests at table requires an intimate knowledge of society. Avoid seating an undertaker next to a doctor, or a man just out of the penitentiary along side the judge who sent him there. Cases should also be taken to separate a wife from her divorced husband.

There seems to be some difference of opinion with regard to the proper length of a dinner. Mac thinks an hour and a half is long enough. It is fair to be late to dinner, but it depends a good deal on how much there is to eat, after all.

Advice is given about the decoration of the table. The author advocates austere simplicity, from which comes the idea of a center piece upon a center piece consisting of dolls and children's toys, which is sometimes seen.

"It is to be borne in mind that a host or hostess can not be too courteous or too generous. A guest should also be taken to separate a wife from her divorced husband.
